SEASON OPENS
HERE JUNE 19TH

CLEAN-UP DAY JUNE 9th

Engineers Unable to Agree on Property Line Dispute in Ruedy Street Section. Dance Hall Permit Given Mexicans

Upland's band concert season for the summer of 1924 opens at Municipal Park, Thursday evening, June 19th. Throughout the winter months and thus far this summer Director Wilding and his famous band have been holding rehearsals and are prepared to present an excellent series of concerts.

Upland's "Joy Nights" have become decidedly popular throughout this section and big crowds attend each concert.

Consents to Build Walk

Charles Dewey has decided to put in sidewalk along his property on G street. Recently the council informed Mr. Dewey to put in the sidewalk or the city would put it in. Mr. Dewey appeared before the council last night and stated that he would proceed with the work as soon as City Engineer gave him the grade stakes.

Trash Can Trial

One trash can is to go on trial before the people of the city. An advertising company with a trash can as the medium desires a permit to place cans on a dozen corners in the business section and as their representative said last night, "to serve our clients." In days gone clients were associated with lawyers, but along with jazz music clients have become associated with trash can manufacturers. On each trash can the sign "for trash only" is to appear, while on all four sides advertisements will appear. The idea didn't appear to get over with the council and so the trash can goes on trial before the people.

Home Merchant First

Purchase of pipe and paint by the city of out-of-town firms attracted the attention of the Upland Business Men's Association. The Association evidently didn't have all the details when the letter was addressed to the council. The pipe was purchased at a special figure that no local firm could compete with because of a condition in the market at that particular time. The paint was of special manufacture for painting parking lines on pavements.

Where's Where

Residents in the vicinity of Ruedy street wonder where their property lines are, all because engineers fail to agree. Seven feet is under discussion and a conference of engineers will be held to see where the seven feet went and who they belong to.

Dance Hall Permit

That the Mexican population might be entertained, a dance hall permit has been granted, the dance to be conducted in a new building erected on Sixth avenue south of Eleventh street. If the dance is conducted properly the council will allow the continuance but if disturbances result it will be rescinded.

Take Out Culverts

To solve the traffic problem at Tenth and Euclid the council ordered the removal of the culverts and installation of dips. Many accidents happen at the intersection and the change is made to better conditions. Property owners from Ninth to Eleventh street are to be requested to put in improved gutters to take the place of the deep ditch which makes driving up to the curb almost impossible. Several have already made the change and it has proven highly satisfactory.

Clean Up Week, June 9th

Upland is once again going to endeavor to get in the class of the famous Spotted Town and commencing on June 9th, clean up will be under way. During the week tin cans, rubbish, weeds and a thousand and one other things are going to start for the dumping grounds. City trucks will

BID NOW OR HOLD YOUR PEACE FOR FIVE YEARS

HOME FOR POSTOFFICE

Three or Four Propositions Presented for Consideration of Inspectors Following Close of Bidding Saturday.

Have you a building that you desire to lease to your Uncle Samuel and to be occupied by Uncle's Upland place of business? If you have, Saturday is the last day on which you can present a proposition to supply a home for Upland's postoffice. You not only supply the building, but you furnish the building, you light it, you heat it and do a lot of things that are not usually done in leasing a building.

If you are interested, Postmaster Kirk can supply you with the details.

How many bids have been made for the postoffice is not known, but evidently inspectors will decide which location to accept. The growth of the postoffice business here has outgrown the present building and a new location with more floor space is necessary.

New Buildings Under Way

The Jessup Building, under the guidance of Contractor Cooley, is under way and within a few weeks will be occupied by the Jessup grocery. Adjoining the Jessup Building will be the Blohm & Perschbacher building, which will close in the gap on Second Avenue between the Guy Clark Building and the Upland Furniture Company store. The Herman Building, just north of the Draper undertaking parlors on First Avenue, is nearing completion.

98 HIGHSORE IN SUNDAY SHOOT

First place in the registered tournament of the Lone Hill Gun Club at Upland last Sunday was won by N. W. Warman with a score of 98 out of the 100 targets. L. Craft and Bill Malone were tied for second place with 96, Craft winning in the shoot-off. P. G. Peterson took third place with 95.

In the handicap event of 50 targets, L. Craft captured the high honors, setting a record of 49 and missing the eighth shot. It was Craft who shot a perfect score in the registered tournament two weeks ago, the first and only 100 score made this season.

D. E. Vallon defeated P. G. Peterson in the shoot-off for second place, deciding the tie score of 48. Carl Hertz took third, with a score of 47.

The tournament last Sunday was the final meet to be held at Upland until after the state tournament starting Thursday at Monterey.

COMMON PEOPLE CAN PREVENT WAR

That another world war would be suicide was the keynote of a powerful sermon delivered Sunday morning by Dr. Charles F. Setler at a special Memorial Day service at the First Methodist Church, Ontario. The memorial service was attended by large delegations from the local organizations of the Grand Army of the Republic, the American Legion, the Woman's Relief Corps, the Legion Women's Auxiliary and others, and heads of each body had a seat on the platform.

Dr. Setler summarized the late war, calling attention to its fearful list of casualties, its toll of human life and the lasting effect of its horror. He then referred to some of the new inventions along the line of guns and gas which are calculated to make war a hundred times more deadly. In closing, the speaker declared it was up to the common people to prevent war, saying that if they don't want it, they won't have it. Special music was a feature of the memorial service.

haul the debris and property owners are requested to place the rubbish, cans, etc., either in the alley or where there isn't an alley, on the curb fronting their property.

TIP-GRIP ADVERTISES US

Wanamaker Recommends Tip-Grip to Mehl Hardware Co., Through Folder Produced in Upland News Print Shop.

In the morning mail of the Mehl Hardware Company the other day came a letter from John W. Wanamaker, Madison Square Garden, New York and in the letter it was set forth that Wanamaker had just added to its line of sporting goods the Howe "Tip-Grip" for Golf Clubs.

Enclosed with the letter was a folder telling of the tip-grip.

To the average town this is not an unusual announcement but to the city of Upland it means a whole lot. The Howe "Tip-Grip" is an Upland product, originated and put on the market by John D. Howe. Wanamaker has sent the same letter to all of its dealers which is probably in the neighborhood of 15,000 and each of these folders gives the headquarters of the Howe Tip-Grip as Upland.

The folder enclosed with each letter from Wanamaker was done in two colors and was produced for Mr. Howe by the Upland News Print Shop.

With the golf game just opening up in the east for the summer season Howe Tip-Grips are in great demand and each day finds more orders being received here. Before the summer is over there will be thousands of golf clubs throughout the United States and Canada equipped with the Howe "Tip-Grip" and on each one appears, "Howe Tip-Grip, Upland, Cal."

COLTON MAN HURT
IN AUTO COLLISION

James Ronke, a one-legged sawyer of Colton, is at the San Antonio Hospital this evening suffering from cuts, bruises and abrasions as the result of an accident on the Foothill Boulevard in the Cucamonga section in which the horse-drawn buggy he was driving figured in a collision with a machine occupied by two women. The motor car was driven by Miss Virginia Moberly of Los Angeles.

Ronke was taken to the San Antonio Hospital by L. A. Pemberton, another driver. It is said that he will probably be obliged to remain at the hospital several days, although his injuries are not considered serious. He is 55 years of age.

Two persons narrowly escaped injury at Archibald Avenue and the Base Line road, in the Alta Loma section, late Saturday afternoon. Pedro Jimenez, driving a small car with which he was unfamiliar, became confused and crashed into a truck driven by Clarence Waterburger for the E. L. Belcher ranch.

Waterburger has been driving north on Archibald and was in the act of turning west on Base Line. Jimenez, going east on the Base Line, attempted to pass the truck on the left hand side. The result was that he struck Waterburger's right front wheel and the truck went in the ditch. No one was injured.

JOINT MEETING OF
BUSINESS MEN

A joint meeting of the Upland and Ontario Business Men's Associations has been arranged for Thursday, June 12th, which will take place at The Sycamores.

The program will start with a dinner, and the speaker of the evening will be Mr. Wessells of Whittier, whose topic will be "Come Sales and Service Problems." Members' wives and employees will be invited, and after dinner, dancing and cards will be the amusements provided.

BANKEE PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Using The Upland News as the only means of advertising and getting a result which packed the capacity of the Hayman & Rogers store to overflowing, Bankees merchants of the city did a surprising business last week and brought the week to a glorious close when prizes were awarded Saturday night at the Hayman & Rogers store.

At seven o'clock people began gathering at the store with the coupons given them by Bankees merchants during the week, and at the appointed time Miss Viola Landgraf drew tickets from the box which awarded prizes as follows:

First Prize—Fred Packard, $5 order, Hayman & Rogers.
Second Prize—W. E. Kelsey, $5 order, Goodban's Brownbilt Shoe.
Third Prize—Mr. Burlingame, $5 order, Reynolds & Harnish.
Fourth Prize—Mrs. Priestly, $5 box of candy, at Brady's.
Fifth Prize—Mr. Landgraf, $2.50 order, Bower, Jeweler.
Sixth Prize—Arthur Betz, order on Upland Cleaners, pressing suit.
Seventh Prize—Thos. Stuteville, $5 order on Vacuum Cleaner, Colborn Electric Shop.

The Bankees merchants in Upland entering into the special of last week were: Hayman & Rogers, grocers; O. P. Brady, druggist; Reynolds & Harnish, dry goods; James Goodban, shoes; Geo. B. Bower, jeweler; Colborn Electric Shop; Upland Cleaners.

ORANGES BRING
STATE PROSPERITY

Not satisfied with leading the United States in the production of fruit California has in a short time advanced to first place in the output of vegetables, states a recent review of the Mercantile Trust company of San Francisco. The review in part follows:

California's output of asparagus, cauliflower, lettuce, melons and tomatoes increased from $18,000,000 in 1921 to $45,000,000 in 1923. Its asparagus crop alone for the latter year amounted to $13,265,000, which was an increase of more than $10,250,000 over the crop for 1921.

During that period the total value of all its vegetable crops, including beans, potatoes, sweet potatoes and onions, which are officially classified as "field crops," rose steadily from $46,000,000 to $93,000,000. During the same period its fruit crops fluctuated from $180,000,000 in 1921 to $200,500,000 in 1922 and $161,000,000 in 1923.

The aggregate value of the fruit crops for the three-year period was $541,000,000; that of the vegetable crops was $277,000,000.

Some of the individual vegetable crops are respectively more valuable than some of the staple fruit crops for which the state is internationally famous.

The bean crop, for instance, off-set in 1923 the raisin crop valued at $18,960,000. The celery crop, $2,380,000, was worth more than the plum crop $2,070,000. The lettuce crop, $7,900,000, nearly equalled the prune crop, $8,000,000. The asparagus crop, $13,265,000, was almost as valuable as the peach crop, $9,120,000, and the apricot crop, $4,250,000, taken together.

The most important California fruit crops are oranges and grapes. The value of these two in 1923 aggregated nearly $77,000,000, exclusive of the grapes grown to make raisins. The carload shipments of grapes sent out of the state last year almost equaled in number the carload shipments of vegetables. Of the latter, 53,140 car lots valued at $9,470,000 were shipped; of grapes, 52,340 car lots valued at $29,000,000.

The vegetable crop of the state for that year was of greater value than all the fruit crops other than grapes and oranges.

ANNUAL MEETING
C.C. SECRETARIES

At the Annual meeting of the Secretaries of Southern California, held at Santa Catalina, May 24 and 25, James C. Metzgar of Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce was elected President and Chas. P. Bayer of Los Angeles re-elected secretary.

Prof. J. F. Woellner, M. A., Ph. D., of the University of Southern California gave an interesting talk on "Education." He said, "Although you are a graduate of Universities you are not necessarily educated, but they who do, know."

Mr. Harrison Elliott, of Bakersfield, talked on "Coordination of Community Activities." He stated that all communities had a number of organizations that stand for service, the same as the chamber of commerce—but the problem is to get these organizations to co-operate with Chamber of Commerce in their work.

Dinner at the St. Catherine Hotel and dancing in the evening was enjoyed by the Secretaries.

An invitation from the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce was given and accepted for the July meeting.

Among those going from Upland and Ontario were Miss Lela Blair, B. W. Spencer, Miss Dana Williams.

3,000 CHILDREN AT
CHAFFEY PLAY DAY

The Thirteenth Annual Play Day of the Chaffey district was held on Saturday at the Chaffey Camps, when 3,000 grammar school children gathered for the event.

The program opened at ten o'clock with spelling contests in Chaffey Auditorium. Upland won the silver loving cup in the contest between pupils of the 7th and 8th grades open to city and rural schools, and Alta Loma captured the pennant. Central School, Ontario, was awarded the cup in the contest between pupils of the 5th and 6th grades, while Fontana won the pennant.

The track meet and relay races were a source of intense interest and were won by the following different schools in the Chaffey district: Etiwanda first and Alta Loma second in the district relay for schools outside Upland and Ontario.

Class B relay—Junior High, Ontario, first; Upland, second. Class C relay—Junior High, Ontario, first; Upland, second; Central, Ontario, third; San Antonio, fourth; South Euclid, fifth.

Mountain View took first place and Etiwanda second in the four-boy district primary relay for schools outside Upland and Ontario; Mountain View first, Etiwanda second, and Cucamonga third in girls' district relay.

Boys' Primary for Upland and Ontario schools—Central, first; Upland, second; South Euclid, third; San Antonio, fourth.

In the girls' primary, Upland won first place, San Antonio second, South Euclid third, Central fourth.

The Class A relay race between Upland and Ontario boys was very exciting, and resulted in the Junior High runner winning, though the Upland boys came a very close second.

Fred Clapp, physical director and athletic instructor at Chaffey, assisted by M. A. Gauer, physical director of the Ontario city schools, and others, was in charge of the events of the day. Folk dances, games and drills were also given on the Chaffey lawns, and children from all the schools took part.

Many parents came for the entire day and there were many luncheon parties on the grass.

Owing to the fact that Friday is Memorial Day the News will be issued on Thursday of this week. Advertisers and those desiring items in Thursdays issue are requested to get their copy to The News office as soon as possible.

QUARANTINE OF ARIZONA PARTLY LIFTED MONDAY

URGENT CASES ADMITTED

Forecast Early Opening of Needles and Yuma Highways Out of State. Many Still Entering California Daily.

Arizona's barrier against entry of automobile tourists into the State from California, in effect since the foot and mouth epidemic, was partly lifted yesterday.

Special permits in emergency cases for passage into the state at both the Needles and Yuma gateways will be issued, it was announced by H. H. McCluskey, secretary to Governor Hunt of Arizona. The transcontinental highways have been closed at the border for weeks.

Entrants Must Register

In a bulletin to the National Old Trails Association, the governor's secretary announced that motorists who enter the state must register, giving names, car license number, and residence, in applying for permits that will be issued by the quarantine officer at Phoenix. Travelers are warned that, for their convenience, they should register at the Gateway Hotel in Needles, and thereby obtain advantage of special orders as they are issued by the Arizona state authorities.

Similar requirements are effective at Yuma along the border, as Arizona is not entirely lifting its drastic quarantine against the animal plague enacted when it was feared that the epidemic would spread into the cattle ranges. Hundreds of tourists were turned back along the border and the calling of troops to enforce the edict was threatened when angry travelers attempted to storm the quarantine patrol guards.

Westbound travel has not been restricted. Yesterday's action in admitting tourists in emergency cases is believed to forecast the removing of the ban, particularly in view of the gradual decrease of the plague menace.

ACCUSED RUSTLER
BOB HOLLIMAN IS FREED AGAIN

JURORS UNABLE TO AGREE

Trial Postponed and a Dismissal is Expected Within Few Weeks.

Bob Holliman, asserted cattle "rustler" of the Ivanpah ranges, and known for quickness with his trigger finger, will probably escape prosecution again.

Holliman was before a jury six months ago on charges of stealing cattle of the Rock Springs Cattle Company, a corporation whose herds graze over the ranges of several western states. The jury disagreed as to Bob's guilt and he was released on bail.

Case Postponed by Prosecution

The case was called again in the Superior Court yesterday, meaning that it is doubtful if it will ever be heard, although District Attorney George H. Johnson has not formally requested that the charges against the cattleman be dismissed. Holliman was not in court, but represented by attorneys.

Holliman is famed throughout the Ivanpah country, in the eastern part of the county along the Arizona and Nevada line. Nearly five years ago, he participated in one of the notorious shooting scrapes of the range, besting Tom and Pat Woods, father and son, in a gun duel. None of the three cattlemen was convicted, but the Woods left the country, Holliman returning. The Woods, both Tom and Pat, were employees of the Rock Springs Company.

Sensationalism in Recent Trial

In the recent Holliman trial, picturesque cow punchers of the range country were the principals. Sensationalism crept into the case when Holliman's attorney asked the court to disarm one of the state's witnesses while he grilled him on the witness stand. No gunplay resulted, however, and Holliman vigorously denied that he stole a calf from the Rock Springs Company.

BADLY INJURED AS CAR TURNS OVER

Mrs. Nina Sheline of Redondo Beach was taken to the San Antonio Hospital Saturday evening suffering from lacerations of the face, a dislocated left shoulder and other injuries sustained when the motor car in which she was en route to San Bernardino turned over on the Foothill Boulevard near here. Joseph Sheline, the woman's husband, who was driving, sustained bruises and abrasions about the back, but was able to leave the hospital Sunday. Mrs. Sheline remained until yesterday.

The motor car in which the beach couple were riding is reported to have tumbled when the driver swerved to avoid collision with another machine, and skidded in some water on the highway pavement. Mrs. Sheline's injuries are not considered serious.

LOVE FINDS WAY
ALTHOUGH THE
ROAD WAS ROUGH

CUTLER MARRIES CHOICE

Leaves for New Home in Idaho Leaving Their Future Address with Judge Kavanaugh Who Performed Ceremony.

Love gets a few hard knocks, but is nearly always triumphant.

Ejected from the Frank Byrne home in Cucamonga three months ago because of his growing attentions to Byrne's pretty daughter, Irene, and later, arrested on a charge of writing a threatening letter to the irate parent, Roland E. Cutler yesterday added fire to the feud.

Like a Lathario of old, Cutler married the girl.

Hurry to Justice Wedding

Appearing early in the day at County Clerk Harry L. Allison's office, Cutler and Irene secured a marriage license. Without delays or frills, they hastened to Justice Jerome B. Kavanaugh's court and asked that the ceremony be performed.

Justice Kavanaugh recognized Cutler instantly.

"You're the man who was arrested for writing a threatening letter to Frank Byrne of Cucamonga, aren't you?" asked the justice.

"Yes," replied Cutler.

"And you're his daughter, aren't you?" continued the justice, as he read the marriage license before performing the ceremony.

"Does your father know you are going to be married?" he asked.

Girl Overlooks Threat Charge

Irene said something about being 22 years old and that she was going to marry the man of her choice, as Cutler smiled. Cutler was released by federal authorities after being arrested for the asserted writing of the threatening letter, in which Byrne was warned not to interfere with Cutler's romance.

Justice Kavanaugh read the ceremony. As the bride and groom left the courtroom, they gave the justice an address in Idaho with directions to forward the marriage license to that place.

Mr. Byrne, the protesting father, will probably be surprised, the girl intimated to the justice.

FOUND GUILTY OF MOONSHINING

Sam Lucia, convicted by a jury last week in Superior Court on a charge of manufacturing and possessing moonshine liquor, Saturday was sentenced by Judge Benjamin F. Warner to serve 120 days in the county jail, while Pete Nardy, charged jointly with Lucia in the possession charge, was given a 90-day sentence.

Motion for new trial made by defense attorneys E. L. Torchia and J. L. Matthews was denied by Judge Warner and notice of appeal from the judgment was given.

Lucia and Nardy were arrested at the Lucia ranch near Etiwanda in the act of distilling moonshine liquor. Chris Lucia, brother of the convicted man, tried at the same time the other defendants were, was found not guilty upon instructions from Judge Warner.

The two convicted men did not deny making the liquor when they testified in court, claiming that they were making it to be used in fortifying wine which they had stored in a bonded government warehouse under the Lucia residence. A 100-gallon still which the men were using when arrested was brought into court during the trial for evidence. The initials "SL," indicating ownership by Sam Lucia, were plainly visible on the huge still.

Deputy Sheriffs Jack H. Brown and Emmett L. Shay testified that they surprised the men as they were operating the still. A foot race was necessary to capture the three men, a fourth escaping. The officers stated that they found several barrels of grape brandy in the barn at the ranch where the still was operating. They did not molest the wine in the government warehouse, they testified.

District Attorney George H. Johnson and Chief Deputy M. O. Hertz prosecuted the case.

Johnny (at poultry show): "Ma, let's stay until they let the animals out."

Mother: "They don't let them out, dear."

Johnny: "Yes, they do, ma, 'cause last night I heard pa tell Uncle Bill that they would stick around after the show and pick up some chickens."—Art and Life Magazine.

DANGEROUS MAN

"Uncle Tom," said his young nephew to an old bachelor, "tell me about some of the narrow escapes you've had from the women."

"Boy," was the response, "if there was any narrow escapes, the women had 'em!"—Farm and Fireside.

SAVING MONEY

"Jim, lend me a five-spot for a moment—only for a moment."

"Quite sure you only want it for a moment?"

"Quite sure—only for a moment."

"All right. Wait a moment, and then you won't want it."—The Progressive Grocer.

FAMILIAR POEMS

DREAMERS

All that is new will be old some day,
And you will look back on the long, long way,
You will look wistfully back and say:
"Ah, it was different yesterday."

You will not speak of tomorrow then,
You will gossip with other old men,
And youth will be cruel as you were when
You laughed at the ways of older men.

For your new thing is the old, old thing
That youth is always discovering.
"See me do this," The children bring
Year after year the same old thing.

"The world is hollow and wrong,"
You say, "Rotten with errors of yesterday,
We have come to show you our new way."
That's what the young men always say.

But the world has never been changed, it seems.
Though every generation dreams
And hammers away at the same old themes,
The plan is never as good as it seems.

The stubborn human heart returns
Steadfastly to its own concerns.
Little it changes, little it learns.
To itself and its own the heart returns.

Only a martyr, now and then,
Dies for the good of other men.
And lets us dream of an hour when
There shall be no more little men.

All that is old has been old so long!
It has been told in story and song.
The old, old story of sorrow and wrong
That should not have been allowed so long.

And over the young men's promising
And jests that the weary, old men fling,
The scoffing and disillusioning,
Is the hope to which we always cling.

"Some day the world will be better," we say,
"Our children will find some higher way."
Men will be honest and kind some day."
That's what our wise men always say.
—Louise Driscoll in New York Times.

THE OLD HOUSE SPEAKS

I will not weep, though grief lies
Near my heart,
Though cruel hands assault my vital part,
As huntsmen strike or slay with ruthless dart.

A million tears cannot assuage the pain,
Nor yet a thousand years for me regain
The joy of sheltering mine from cold or rain.

By day, by night, the friendly trees and I
Have covered them; might often laugh or cry
As joy or grief would hardly pass them by.

And now, just yesterday, I heard them say:
"O, won't the big new house be grand and gay?"
But granny, old and feeble-voiced,
said, "Nay!"

She told them how their grandpa
loved me well,
The gables, chimneys, old oak beams could tell
How she and John laid plans for each new cell.

Best brick and pine and oak were carried far,
To make a house as God would make a star,
To guide his children unto gates ajar.

Each babe that came to them was richly blest,
Their children, too, and every welcome guest,
The dear old house had comforted, caressed.

She pleaded for a few years more;
to be,
A few years more beneath the friendly tree
That shed its fragrance over her and me.

The children stood around with misty eyes,
Old memories began to flood and rise
And shout sweet hallelujahs to the skies.

I know their songs, for gables gray and bold,
For L's and trees that flaunt long fringes old,
Will promise me new wings of white and gold.

A prayer of thankfulness is filling me
And every heart of every blessed tree.
—Eulalie Tyrrel Fisher, Hollywood

WEAK-MINDED

When the sun and the wind and the rain
Call me out to the moors—
Beckon to hill and plain
And the lure of the great outdoors—

When they whisper the fairway's green
And the south wind's call is strong—
Where the brassie shots careen
And the young brook sings its song—

When they speak of the open sky—
Of a swing—and a follow through
And the blue hills echo the cry—
What else can a fellow do?

The car using the least gasoline, regardless of classification, was the Overland, Model 92, which made the entire run on 13-5/8 gallons of "Red Crown," averaging 29.36 miles to the gallon. Zerolene was the oil used. The Williams-Knight won second place, averaging 23.03 miles to the gallon of "Red Crown," and the Gardner took third place, averaging 28.03 miles to the gallon of "Red Crown."

These mileage records are all the more remarkable for the new racing which barred a lot of gas to save gasoline.

ZEROLENE BRINGS IN SIX OF THE
NINE WINNERS

Six of the cars winning trophies in the Los Angeles-Camp Curry Yosemite Economy Run used Zerolene: The Overland, Model 92, winner of first place in the Sweepstakes and Class 2-A; the Overland, Model 91, winner of Class 1-A; the Oakland sedan, winner in Class 3-A and "Closed Car"—and the Kissel, winner in Class 4-A.

29.36 Miles per Gallon of "Red Crown"

For the eighth consecutive year "Red Crown" was the only gasoline used in this sensational power and mileage test. The reason for this unanimous choice is shown by the remarkable records printed here. Since the motor fuel was exactly the same gasoline as the public uses—is there any reason why "Red Crown" won't develop more power and better mileage in your car as well?

And as for oil, when Zerolene brings in six of the nine winners, won't it pay you to use Zerolene—a better oil—even if it does cost less?

Quick Sure Justice

IN China they still have an ancient law by which, when a bank fails, the banker is beheaded. This may seem barbarous to some Americans. But only one bank has failed in China in over 400 years.

Strict enforcement of the law, regardless of the wealth and influence of the lawbreaker, always has a tendency to prevent crime. And it makes the government more substantial and enduring, for a government is built on quicksands when the people do not have confidence in the integrity and impartial justice of courts. We have in mind, in particular, the excellent public service performed by Judge Jesse D. Wall of Kansas in sentencing the convicted president of a defunct bank to 45 years in prison and $45,000 fine. This was the absolute limit possible under the law. A few more judges like Wall would do more to strengthen our democracy and nip Bolshevism in the bud than a million years of flag waving, pious oratory and two-faced platitudes.

There can be no firm public confidence in the courts when the rich, by reason of being able to hire crafty lawyers who find loopholes in the law and methods of delay, have the advantage over defendants whose purse cannot afford such costly but effective dodging. The courts themselves usually are theoretically impartial as to wealth or poverty of defendants. So are the laws. But, given a rich client, shrewd lawyers can find enough of these loopholes to delay a case almost interminably. The poor man cannot afford such lawyers.

One great weakness of our laws—and a weakness that is employed to keep rich offenders out of jail—is our foolish procedure of abiding by technicalities of the law rather than the plain meaning and intent of the law. By citing precedents and starting arguments, the rich man's lawyer battles over the interpretations and technicalities of the law itself, even more than the question of guilt or innocence.

We need simpler laws, quicker justice—and more judges like Wall, inexorably going hammer and tongs after offenders regardless of wealth and standing. The courts are fast enough, all right, when the defendant can't hire an army of skilled "mouthpieces."

In A Boy's Pockets

THE pockets of small boys yield peculiar collections. Maybe you read about nine-year-old Arthur Parker, knocked down and run over by a taxi. In his pockets they found 5 tops, 73 brass buttons, 60 marbles, 2 oranges, a wooden cigarette holder, a pair of clappers, 10 cigarettes, a mouth organ and a jew's-harp.

This will not surprise the mother of any healthy lad with normal tendencies. If there's anything amazing about Arthur's pockets, it's that their contents didn't include a toad, a couple of white rats, a quart of bright pebbles and several radio sets.

Spring is approaching and boys are beginning to collect. The small boy is close to the savage state. His mania for collecting odds and ends of "junk" is inherited from the savage, who adorns himself with glass beads, feathers, etc.

The instinct of accumulation asserts itself in the lowest forms of human life. Civilization makes it more intense.

This accumulative instinct separates us from the animals. Crows and rats sometimes gather and hide queer collections. But as a rule the animal accumulates only what is actually needed to sustain life.

The squirrel works scientifically, hoarding nuts but not any more than will be needed during the winter. The ant has his storehouse of food. So does the bee. But the purpose of their accumulation is to keep them alive when food is scarce.

Man alone tries to accumulate more than he needs.

The way people fight for money, you'd think they expected to be here on earth for at least several thousand years. Does any of them ever get enough? Not so you can notice.

The savage with his glass beads, the boy with pockets crammed full of trash, the rich man struggling to acquire wealth, that he no longer needs—all three have much in common.

It is wise and necessary to provide for emergency, old age and a "better chance" for the children. But when we pass a certain point in accumulating, the quest becomes an obsession and life loses its color.

A large part of the misery, friction, hatred and ill health of life is due directly to the mania for acquiring more wealth than we need. Life can be a very happy adventure and journey, if we enjoy ourselves as we go along instead of trying to hog everything in sight.

Thrift carried to extremes, is a savage vice.

Community Investments

EVERY resident of any town or city should give the place where he lives the best that is in him—should weigh community and individual problems and get in step with the best movements of the times.

The type of men who are always asking "What's in it for me?" have never built a town, never helped to build one, unless by accident. The only way to obtain from such persons even the smallest financial aid is by taxation—yet coin is only one of the elements that a city needs. Teamwork, which means that everybody pulls on the same rope, in the same direction, at the same time, gives a town the spirit that moves it forward.

"Open the throttle and let the uplifting power of the community spirit carry your burdens," says Frank Wiggins, the veteran executive of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, in an address to commercial secretaries—and Wiggins and his town might be cited as the best American exhibit on the subject.

Put in loyal service. Study problems, vote, aid all good and uplifting movements, help to build libraries and maintain good schools, and the returns will be subtle and of incalculable value.

There are many gifts for the living.
But only one for those who have gone before—

GREAT PAGEANT "RAMONA" MAY 30

History and romance of early California will be interestingly revived May 30, 31 and June 1, when the people of Hemet and San Jacinto will present for the second time their spectacular outdoor pageant-play "Ramona," in the beautiful Ramona Amphitheater at the base of Mt. San Jacinto at Hemet. The pageant will be presented May 30 and 31, and June 1. It will begin at 4 o'clock on each day.

With more than 100 persons in the cast, the pageant gives promise of being one of the most spectacular out-of-door dramas ever given in California. An attendance of 10,000 persons from all parts of California is anticipated.

The production of the annual Ramona Pageant by the people of Hemet and San Jacinto has particular significance because of the fact that it was in old San Jacinto that Helen Hunt Jackson wrote the greater part of her romantic novel of California Indian and Spanish life forty-two years ago. It was in and around old San Jacinto that she found the characters and historical background for her book.

Ramona actually lived. So did her faithful lover, Alessandro, although the latter was known by another name. Other characters in the book are easily identified as prominent residents of the San Jacinto region in those early days. Several of them survive to this day.

Perhaps the most authentic story of the history of the book is that told by Mrs. J. C. Jordan of San Jacinto before her death in 1909. Mrs. Jordan was the "Aunt Ri" of the novel and her husband was the original "Jeff Hyer." Coming to old San Jacinto, Mrs. Jackson lived at the Jordan home.

"One day she (Mrs. Jackson) said to me: 'Oh, Mrs. Jordan, if I could only present this (the story of the Indians) in some way that the public would hear. If I could only write such a story as Mrs. Stowe wrote of negro slavery.'"

"I told her that anyone who could write her 'Letters to Cats' could certainly do it. She said she must have some sort of an actual incident to build upon."

"My dear," I said, "you go into the kitchen and you will find things on the stove for your breakfast. As soon as I finish my work I'll tell you a story to build on. I know just one."

"She went into the kitchen, but pretty soon I found her at the door, excited and eager. She said, 'Mrs. Jordan, I simply can't wait until I know that story.'"

"So I told her the story of Ramona. You'd best be contented with the novel; the real story isn't romantic."

"Here Mrs. Jordan told about Alessandro."

"His name wasn't really Alessandro. The man's real name was Juan Diego. They used to call him 'Crazy Juan,' though he wasn't really crazy, for he was smart enough. He used to get spells; no, not crazy spells, just devilish, you know; it seemed as though the devil got into him. "Ramona was an Indian girl. When she was young—well, at best she was just a passably good looking girl. She being the daughter of the rich Moreno family was all imagination. Nobody knew who Ramona was or where she came from. She was just an Indian girl who had drifted in from one of the reservations of Indian villages. She was probably a Cahulla. Mrs. Jackson was fascinated by the beautiful name—her name actually was Ramona."

"Mrs. Jackson drew on the Lugo family in the vicinity for the Moreno family of the novel. The incident of Alessandro and his people being driven from the village was imaginary. The parts about the sick child and the murder of Alessandro are true. The child was brought to my house. When they brought me this sick child I could not provide for them myself, but found for them quarters in a nearby sheep camp. When the baby died I tore boards off my barn to make the little coffin. The incident of the killing of Alessandro, as related in the book, is close to the facts."

"In one of his spells Juan Diego came to town and took away another man's horse. The horse he left in place of the one he took was not the coal-black charger described in the novel; it was a mean little knock-kneed broncho. The horse he took belonged to Sam Temple (Jim Farrar in the book), who lived here until his recent death. Temple was enraged when he found the broncho left in place of his horse. He followed Juan Diego up the mountain and shot him at his own door. Ramona went to live with another man."

The killing of Juan Diego by Sam Temple is a matter of record in the Justice court of San Jacinto Township, then a part of San Diego County.

Temple, the transcript of the testimony at the trial reveals, was acquitted on a charge of justifiable homicide, March 31, 1883. He contended that he shot in self-defense.

The pageant at Hemet will follow accurately the novel by Mrs. Jackson. The production will be given under the direction of Garnet Holme, director of the Pilgrimage Play at Hollywood, the Desert Play at Palm Springs, the Pageant of the Sun at Coronado, the Mountain Play on Mt. Tamalpais, and other open-air attractions that have helped to spread the fame of California around the world.

The role of Ramona in the pageant will be taken by Mildred Brewster of Los Angeles; Victor Jory of Los Angeles will portray Alessandro. Other principals in the cast will be Carroll Nye, Adelaide Clarke, Edward Poorman, Nancy Miller and Frank D. Felt.

This pageant is being produced with the sanction of Virginia Calhoun, owner of exclusive dramatic rights on Ramona with Little, Brown & Company, publishers, of Boston.

MARCONI DIVORCED—TAKE OTHER MATE, BOTH IN ITALY

A recent photograph of Signor Guglielmo Marconi, wireless wizard, and Signora Marconi, who were recently divorced in Rome. Signora Marconi, who was the Hon. Beatrice O'Brien, daughter of the late Baron Inchiquin, of County Clare, Ireland, was remarried, almost immediately after the divorce, to Marchese Marignoli, and is spending her honeymoon now at his family place near Spoleto. It is said in Rome that Signor Marconi either has already been married again, or will be married shortly to the 20-year-old daughter of the Marchese Casati, of Milan. The three children of the Marconis are with their mother.

U. OF P. LAUNCHES NEW SHELL

Dr. Josiah M. Penniman, Provost of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa., is here seen christening a new crew shell with a glass of water from the Schuylkill River nearby. The event was made one of ceremonious import, and the crews expect to sweep aside all competition this year.

HOW YOUR MEAT DOLLAR IS DIVIDED

Out of every consumer dollar paid for meat in successful retail markets, 76c cents is paid by the dealer to the packer or wholesaler, 19 cents go for the dealer's expenses, including wages, rent, ice, wrappings, and other expenses, and 5 cents represents the dealer's profit. This calculation is made by the United States Department of Agriculture based on a survey conducted jointly with Northwestern University, of 143 retail meat stores in Chicago, Cleveland and New York, from March 1923 to February, 1924.

Nineteen Cents for Overhead
It was found that of the 19 cents received by the dealer to pay operating expenses, 13 cents went for wages paid to hired employees and salary for proprietor based upon what he would have to pay some outsider to do the same work; 2 cents went for rent paid or represented the rental value for the building if owned; 1 cent for ice and refrigeration; slightly less than 1 cent for wrappings, twine, and containers; and a little over 2 cents for miscellaneous expenses, which included heat, light, tool sharpening, and other expenses.

The margin between the cost price and selling price in retailing meat was found to be from 22 to 27 cents out of every dollar taken in. The margin varied somewhat with the size of store. Stores with the largest sales showed the lowest margins. The largest stores which reported employing four men or more had margins of from 21 to 23 per cent of sales; the low figures being made possible by lower expenses due primarily to greater labor efficiency and low rent percentages, because rent was distributed over a large volume of sales.

Rent Varies Widely
The most common expense of operating a retail meat store was found to be around 18 or 22 per cent of sales. The expense varied considerably with size of store, the largest stores having a percentage below 18, due primarily to more efficient use of employees time. As wages constituted about two-thirds of total expense, increased efficiency in the use of time is immediately shown by a reduction in total expense in relation to sales, the department points out. Largest profits were made by stores which had a total expense of 20 per cent and below; as expenses increased beyond this point profits fell off.

Rent among stores varied more widely than any other item of expense; some large volume stores paying as low as one-half of one per cent and some stores, with small sales paying over 6 per cent. The average figure for all stores was about 2 per cent of sales, which was also about the average for two-man stores. One-man stores on the average had to pay about one per cent more than two-man stores, while larger stores averaged about 1.25 per cent of sales.

Out of the 143 stores reporting from the three cities, 42 showed a loss for the period reported, and 101 made a profit. Two out of every seven stores were unsuccessful. If the owners had sold their shops and gone to work for some one else as meat cutters, they would have increased their yearly incomes. The owners of a number of the 42 stores previously had kept no business records and did not know that their business was not paying. The profits of the 101 stores varied from practically nothing to over 10 per cent of sales in some of the successful shops.

The existence of too many retail meat shops which results in excessive competition explained why many of the dealers lost money, the department says. Location is also of great importance to the merchant from the viewpoint of competition and any one opening a new shop should consider this very carefully.

Too many clerks is an important reason why many dealers were not successful, the department found. A high wage bill results in high expenses which demand a higher price to dealer. High prices in turn make it difficult to attract trade. Some other causes which contributed to losses were poor purchasing,

CUCAMONGA

Mrs. H. H. Thomas spent Monday in Los Angeles, returning home the same day. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kincaid left Sunday to spend a few days visiting in Los Angeles. Mrs. Kincaid will visit her daughter, Mrs. Walter Frank Keen, and on Monday will enjoy attending a luncheon at the new Biltmore Hotel.

Miss Eleanor Albert, with her friend, Mrs. E. S. Allen, motored to Pomona Friday evening, where they enjoyed the evening program at the Belvedere.

Oscar Taradash returned Monday morning after a week-end spent at the bedside of his sick wife at the hospital in Glendale Road. He reports the patient feeling some brighter, which is encouraging news to their friends.

Pupils at Alta Loma school are very busy these days with final studies and exams, whilst keeping one eye on the calendar, where June 6th stands for a big red-letter day for them, being the closing day of school for the season.

Clifford Thomas, who was confined to his home last week with a severe attack of fever and tonsillitis, has recovered nicely and able to be out again.

The Kilkare Kaff Klub will enjoy a unique meeting next "joy-night," Wednesday evening, June 4, club members motoring over to Highland, where they will be entertained by Mrs. Edna Patterson at the home of her niece, Mrs. D. H. Roddick.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morse are eagerly anticipating the arrival here for the summer of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pehl and two children, from Gillette, Wyo., their summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thorpe, Jr., and children, were expected weekend guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thorpe of "Edgemount," Alta Loma.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Blane of State Highway, with their son, Francois, and daughter, Miss Nona, were to leave Monday for New York, where they will sail for Sunny France. Mr. Blane's native land, which he has not seen in thirty-two years, when he left to make his home in America. The family will visit relatives and old friends in Southern France and expect to be gone something like a year.

Mrs. Arthur Relph and two children of Alta Loma expect to leave on Sunday next for Burbank and Beverly Hills, where she will visit her sisters and mother and other relatives for a week.

W. H. Stipe and daughters, Miss Treasa and Lucille, enjoyed a delightful weekend visit with their daughter and sister, Miss Bessie Stipe, at Redondo Beach.

Miss Gertrude Reid entertained most cordially members of the Alta Loma Bridge Club at her home on Hellman Avenue Wednesday afternoon, the auction tournament furnishing delightful entertainment. A dainty repast was served the latter part of the afternoon, a center bowl of garden flowers being an attractive feature of the dining table. Covers were arranged for Mrs. C. F. Thorpe, Mrs. W. C. Belden, Mrs. Gilbert Dze, Mrs. W. H. Converse, Mrs. H. L. Salisbury, Mrs. W. H. Horst, Mrs. E. S. Bishop, Miss Matilda Schiedel and the hostess, Miss Reid. Mrs. H. L. Salisbury will entertain the club at the next meeting, Tuesday, June 3rd.

Mrs. Chas. B. Molsinger was a charming hostess last Thursday afternoon, entertaining her afternoon bridge club at her home on Turner Avenue. Graceful baskets of colorful garden flowers were used in effective decoration of the spacious living room, furnishing a pretty setting for the auction tournament. Mrs. Leigh Thompson was awarded a dainty prize for the honor score. A most tempting collation was served by the hostess.

Aloha Club Banquet at Red Hill Country Club

Marking the final club party of their social season, the Aloha Club were delightfully banquetted Friday evening at the Red Hill Country Club, followed by an enjoyable evening at the jolly five-hundred game. The dinner, served in courses at banquet tables laid in the handsome lounge of the clubhouse, was a happy occasion long to be remembered. Acting as toastmaster, Chas. E. Molsinger, after an opening talk, called for toasts from the club president, E. S. Bishop, from Judge W. C. Belden, L. R. Parkin and others. Tasteful baskets of lovely garden flowers decorated the tables, where covers were placed for Messrs. Wayne E. Morse, W. C. Belden, W. J. Kincaid, Gilbert Dze, H. L. Salisbury, Letoy Parkin, E. S. PRIZE WINNING POEM WRITTEN BY CHAFFEY GIRL Margaret Montgomery, Chaffey High School Sophomore, has received a Gold Badge for winning first honors in a poem contest, conducted by the St. Nicholas Magazine. The poem, "Under the Snow," appeared in the April publication.

Under the Snow
The world lies white, all wrapped in snow,
A level carpet all about
To where it meets a clear blue sky,
A world of blue and white without.

How pure, how fair the world appears,
With every dead leaf, every scar
Deep hidden 'neath the covering snow
That stretches to horizon far!

So soon the snow will slip away,
Retreat before the sun's warm light,
And leave the trees all brown and bare,
The earth, a dark and dismal sight.

But e'er a chance we have to mourn,
The trees are budding, leafing out,
The flowers that had sleeping lain
Burst into blossom all about.

—Margaret Montgomery
"Any insanity in the family?" asked the insurance agent.

"Well, no—only my husband imagines he's the head of the house."

Matilda Schiedel, Miss Gertrude Reid and Miss Marian Belden.

In the 500 tournament, prizes for high scores were awarded as follows: First prize, Mrs. W. E. Morse and Mr. Morse; second prize, Mrs. W. C. Belden and Mr. Dze. Club members expect to assemble at the Country Club throughout the summer season at various times and occasions to continue their jolly 500 games.

Cucamonga Woman's Club Close Successful Club Season

Meeting in the auditorium of Alta Loma School, which was prettily decorated with a profusion of spring blossoms for the occasion, the Cucamonga Woman's Club met in final session of the club year last Thursday afternoon. Hostesses of the affair were Mrs. Geo. Allen, Mrs. J. A. Larson, Mrs. E. E. Ramsdell, Mrs. Arthur Relph, Mrs. Geo. T. Morris, Mrs. L. R. Thomas, Mrs. O. P. Whitney and Mrs. H. H. Crawford, with Mrs. O. W. Freeman in charge of arrangement. Mrs. J. H. Williams, president, presided. The Girls' Class in Music opened the program with a pretty group of southern melodies, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Mary, Don't You Weep," "As You Used To Do," and "O, Mighty Land," accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Allen on the piano.

Preceding roll call for Current Events, a brief business session included the reading of the annual financial report by the treasurer, Mrs. E. S. Bishop, which showed the past season's work of the club to have been one of the most successful to date from point of funds raised for benevolent purposes, and the year's study accomplished, being a complete resume of the early history of our country leading up to and including the founding of our great constitutional government.

A vote of appreciation was made of record to Mrs. A. C. Beattie for her splendid work in behalf of the hospital fund at the final entertainment, the Girls' Glee Club Concert, and to the various committees responsible for the success of the fine evening entertainment of Monday evening when members entertained their husbands and families at Central School—in charge of musical program, Mrs. Chas. Beckley; decorations, Mrs. O. W. Freeman, Mrs. Ray Ford, Mrs. C. E. Bauer, Mrs. L. N. Pierce; stage arrangements, Mrs. E. S. Bishop, and refreshments, Mrs. J. B. Ford, Mrs. A. G. Phelps and Mrs. Arthur Forster.

Mrs. L. J. Thomas, the speaker of the afternoon's program, gave an exceedingly entertaining talk on women prominent in public life or welfare work, relating interesting incidents in the life and character sketches of such well-known women as Elizabeth Frye, inspiring Quaker preacher and noted for her prison work; Mary Lyons, an advocate of women; Florence Nightingale, the mother of trained nurses; Clara Barton, Julia Ward Howe, Frances Willard, Jane Adams, Dolly Madison, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Lucy Stone, and the influence of women in politics, all of which proved vastly instructive and instructive.

In her closing remarks, Mrs. Thomas, with dainty cakes and fruit punch, appeared on the scene and with a final social hour members adjourned until the opening of the club year next October.

MERRY WIVES JOURNEY TO FULLERTON—

The most delightful of a year of splendid meetings was the one when the members of the Merry Wives Embroidery Club journeyed to Fullerton to be the guests of Mrs. E. B. Reynolds, a former member, in her beautiful new home. Guests from Upland went over by machine and were joined by guests from Los Angeles and Glendale, who spent the time in reminiscences and fancy work, a delicious luncheon being served at one o'clock.

The home of the Reynolds' is about two miles out of Fullerton on Chapman Avenue, and has a setting of orange trees, with the hills in the distance. At present Mr. and Mrs. Sam Collins and baby son are making their home with the Reynolds, but are planning to build in the near future.

The pleasure of the Merry Wives was greatly enhanced with a drive through the Chapman estate, piloted by E. B. Reynolds, both through the orange groves and home grounds, and the oil land as well. As C. C. Chapman, who is an uncle of Mrs. Reynolds, is a nominee on the Republican ticket for vice-president, this gave an added interest to the occasion.

Those who were able to take the trip were Mrs. William L. Brown, Mrs. G. Aaron Brest, Mrs. Mark Bailey, Mrs. Geo. Bower, Mrs. William C. Cline, Mrs. W. B. Duncan, Mrs. Thos. Harris, Mrs. P. O. Long, Mrs. F. H. Manker, Mrs. N. G. Pehl, Mrs. Grace C. Paulin, Mrs. Paul Cushing and Mrs. Chas. M. Sikes of Ontario, Mrs. Frederick Wing of Glendale, Mrs. Anna Myers of Los Angeles, and the daughter of the hostess, Mrs. Collins.

MRS. HARDT HOSTESS TO PRISCILLAS—

Mrs. E. H. Hardt will be hostess to the members of the Priscilla Circle on Thursday next at her home on Mountain Avenue. Mrs. Harry Jenison acting as joint hostess.

This is the regular meeting and also annual election of officers for the coming year. All business will be finished up at this time, and the last meeting of the season will be a purely social one.

PICNIC AT FAIRMOUNT PARK, RIVERSIDE—

A very pleasant day was spent last Thursday by members of the Pioneer Embroidery Club, when they motored to Fairmount Park, Riverside, for a picnic luncheon.

Among those present were Mrs. A. L. Palls, Mrs. Ernest C. Mehl, Mrs. J. B. Goodrich, Mrs. S. G. Moore, Mrs. Paulin, Sr., Mrs. Reid B. Bordwell, Mrs. N. G. Pehl, Mrs. W. P. Henry, Mrs. H. H. Sanborn, Mrs. R. C. Norton, Mrs. Grace Paulin, Mrs. J. F. Sawyer, Miss Sadie Sawyer, Mrs. William Farlow of San Dimas.

LIBRARY CLUB ELECTS PRESIDENT—

Representatives from Pomona, Ontario, Claremont and San Dimas were present at the meeting of the San Antonio Library Club held at the Upland Public Library on Saturday morning, the 24th, the Upland members acting as hostesses. Following the meeting adjournment was taken to Red Hill Country Club, where luncheon was enjoyed.

Election of officers was the most important event of the day and Miss Harris of the Pomona Public Library, was elected president; Miss Rees of San Dimas, was elected secretary-treasurer, and Miss Bessie Shepard of Ontario, Mrs. Manker of Upland, and Mrs. Robinson of Claremont, were elected members of the executive board. At roll call, each member gave a report of some method worked out satisfactorily during the past year, something new discovered in ink, paste, etc., or something proposed for the coming year. This took an hour, but so many good ideas were presented that it was felt the time was well spent. Mrs. Chapin and Mrs. W. F. Clapp, both of Ontario, gave splendid reports on the general session of the California Library Association meeting which was held in April at Pasadena; Mrs. P. H. Manker reported on the nine round tables held at the same meeting, and Miss Rees told of the wonderful Huntington Library, which the librarians were allowed to visit during the convention. At the opening of the San Antonio Library Club Mrs. Neales, the president, paid tribute to the memory of H. E. Swan, who had been such a wonderful worker on the board of the Ontario Public Library.

TO LEAVE FOR EUROPE WEDNESDAY— Mrs. Harriet Longstreet Gray and her son, Nelson, leave Upland tomorrow, Wednesday, May 28th, for Montreal, from which port they will sail for Europe, where the next few weeks will be spent. Mrs. Gray has been the guest of honor recently at several farewell courtesies given by her friends and leaves Upland with many good wishes for a pleasant journey and delightful holiday.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES ENTERTAIN TEACHERS—

Trustees of the Upland Grammar School District and their wives and husbands were hosts at a jolly wiener roast and campfire party last night on the 18th Street School grounds. First plans included an evening to be spent at San Antonio Park at the mouth of the canyon, but the weather proving rather treacherous, it was decided to hold the affair at the 18th Street School instead, where, if it started to rain, shelter would be easily procured.

However, it turned out quite a warm evening, and a great deal of fun was had over the out-of-door supper. The evening was enjoyed with songs round the fire, and solos by Miss Lauretta Shinkel were appreciated very much. Twenty-five teachers of the grammar school faculty were able to attend, and the hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Owen E. Atwood, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Henderson.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR WILLIAM SPRINGER—

Celebrating a birthday anniversary of her husband's, Mrs. William Springer entertained with a dinner party followed by an evening at the card tables Monday night. Pretty decorations of sweet peas and spring flowers were used on the dining table, and a birthday cake with a number of candles featured the menu.

Covers were marked for Mr. and Mrs. John Springer of Glendale, Mrs. John Springer, Sr., San Fernando, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Flowers, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bordwell, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Alford, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Brady, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Blohm, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Baeruerlen. At the bridge tables favors were awarded Mrs. Wilson and H. O. Blohm for high score at the game, and to Mrs. Sawyer and R. B. Bordwell for low score.

Later in the evening dancing was enjoyed, the party breaking up at midnight.

A. A. U. W. CONVENTION AT STATE MEETING—

The state convention of the American Association of University Women, California state division, will be held in Los Angeles at the Woman's University clubhouse on Friday and Saturday, May 30-31.

Mrs. Henry Goodcell of San Bernardino, president of this division, will preside at the business meetings, and Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhart, president of the national association, will speak on Friday evening.

The program for the two days is filled with interesting events. On Friday, beside Dr. Reinhart, other speakers will be Miss Grace E. Berry, dean of women at Pomona College; Mrs. Regina Westcott, dean of women, Santa Barbara State College; Mrs. Charles Turner, president of the hostess branch, and there will also be a musical program. On Saturday speakers include Mrs. Grace C. Stanley, state commissioner of elementary education; Mrs. Frederic Faulkner, president of San Francisco Bay branch; Miss Amy Cryan, political science department, Mills College. The morning will be taken up with reports of officers and various committees, revision of constitution and other matters of business.

Miss Mary Plant of Ontario, president of the Pomona Valley branch of the association, will attend, and several Upland and Claremont members will also be present.

EASTERN STARS ENTERTAINED— One of the most delightful affairs that has graced the social calendar for some time was the meeting last evening of the Order of the Eastern Star, it being their social night for the month of May. Upland Chapter had as their guests for the evening members of Ontario, Chino and Claremont Chapters, and about 200 were seated when worthy Matron Mrs. R. C. Norton called the meeting to order. After a short business session, the entertainment for the evening was in charge of the dramatic section of the Ebell Club of Pomona, who put on a comedy sketch, entitled, "The Floral Shop." At the close of the program refreshments were served in the dining room by members of the birthday committee.

LUNCHEON BY MRS. G. ANDERSON—

Mrs. Gust Anderson was hostess at a delightful luncheon party last Thursday at her home on East Tenth Street, when she entertained a group of women friends, the afternoon being spent in fancy work and conversation.

The dining table was gay with spring flowers, and covers were marked for Mrs. J. L. Short, Mrs. P. B. Harn, Mrs. W. H. Tuttle, Mrs. C. E. Tyler, Mrs. T. W. Lytle, Mrs. John G. Anderson, Mrs. Hooper, Mrs. J. J. Atwood, Mrs. W. A. Getty, Mrs. C. E. Puckett, Mrs. J. M. Glover.

PICNIC DINNER IN EL CAJON PASS—

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, who are visiting several friends here, a jolly picnic was enjoyed on Sunday, when a party of Upland and Ontario people motored to El Cajon and enjoyed a picnic luncheon and spent the afternoon in the Canyon.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Billington, Mrs. Susie Mehl and son, Gene, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Thudum, Roy and Edward Thudum, Mrs. Bess Kitson, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hamilton and family, Miss Lillian Williams from Upland, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Billington and son of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Billington and children, Dorothy and Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. William Korrell and children, Vivian, Esther, William, Buddy, of Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Montevideo, Minn.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR SAN ANTONIO CHAPTER—

Election of officers for the coming year was an important feature of the May meeting of the San Antonio Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, which was held at the home of the regent, Mrs. Charles V. Barr, Euclid Avenue, yesterday afternoon.

New officers chosen are: Regent, Mrs. Jacob Jenson; vice-regent, Mrs. H. DeBerard; secretary, Mrs. L. W. Cushman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. W. Miller; treasurer, Mrs. R. F. Lemon; registrar, Mrs. E. W. Thayer; historian, Miss Elsie Hamilton; Mrs. Nellie Maron, chaplain; Mrs. Chas. V. Barr, director.

Yearly reports of the various committees were given and mention made that eight new members had joined the chapter during the past year. A most interesting report of the National Continental Congress was read from a resident member in Washington, D.C., Mrs. S. Young, and one from the delegate sent by the chapter, Mrs. Henry Olsen of Ontario, who forwarded a good description of all the high lights in connection with the national meeting.

Mrs. Barr and Mrs. Jenson told in a very interesting manner of the state convention held recently at the Hotel Biltmore in Los Angeles.

A committee composed of Mrs. George B. Harding, Mrs. L. W. Cushman and Mr. Thomas W. Nisbet were appointed to take charge of the meeting on June 14th. This is Flag Day, and the program will be in accordance with a proper observance of the day.

Following the business session, Mrs. Allan S. Barr sang two solos, "The Robin" and "The Moon," accompanied by Mrs. William Mason on the piano. Mrs. Barr has a wonderful mezzo soprano voice which was heard with great pleasure by all the guests.

The hostess served tea at the close of the afternoon's program and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

Members present were Mrs. Jenson, Mrs. Nellie Mason, Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Edwin Keyt, Mrs. C. Milne, Mrs. Nisbet, Mrs. W. Fluke, Mrs. S. C. Henderson, Mrs. May Hart Smith, Mrs. Mary Meacham, Mrs. Everett Henry, Mrs. P. J. Potts, Mrs. J. F. Hamilton, Mrs. Cushman, Mrs. DeBerard, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Lemon, Mrs. Thayer, Mrs. Chapin, Mrs. W. Petch, Mrs. Quayle, Miss Elsie Hamilton, Miss Frances Barr.

DANCING PARTY AT CRILL HOME—

The pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Crill, 2239 Euclid Avenue, was the scene of a very charming affair last Saturday night when their daughter, Miss Harriet Hillier, and her friends, Miss Frances Freeman and Miss Mildred Bane, were hostesses at a rainbow dance, enjoyed by members of the Ontario and Upland younger set.

Decorations followed all the colors of the rainbow and baskets of spring blossoms added to the artistic effect throughout the house. Music was provided by an orchestra of Pomona College students, and there were several feature and favor dances included in the evening's program.

The guest list included Miss Caroline Brownson, Miss Judith Bordwell, Miss Mercedes Frost, Miss Hazel Williams, Miss Irene Churchill, Miss Mary Marshall, Miss Alma Casler, Miss Ida Katherine Vernon, Miss Edith Palls, Miss Katherine Cline, Miss Jane Allen, Miss Marion Hall, Messrs. Kenneth Wilcox, Leavonworth Wheeler, David Gilman, Wendell Moore, Kenneth Cummins, Chester Corry, James Bond, George Stamm, Paul Cornelius, Thomas Craig, Oswald Hammersly, Edwin Elliott, Robert Stock, Kenneth Callow, Clyde DeLong, Ralph Arnold.

MISS MILDRED BOST COMPLIMENTED—

Mrs. Robert Barr Campbell and Miss Gertrude Eymann were co-hostesses at a delightful shower and evening party given for Miss Mildred Bost last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cline on Washington Boulevard.

Miss Bost, whose marriage to Robert Schaefer of Ontario has been set for June 14th, was the recipient of many pretty gifts which were showered upon her by her friends, all former students of Chaffey Union High School.

A charming shade of pink was chosen for the decorations, and bowls of pink roses added to the pretty effect. Supper was served at the close of the evening, the same time being carried out in the decorations.

Invited to meet Miss Bost were Mrs. Owen Davis, Mrs. Hubert L. Manker, Mrs. Frank K. Nichols, Mrs. George W. Cassell, Mrs. Frederic Northrup, Mrs. Noble Beale, Mrs. Marion Grothe, Mrs. E. R. Bost, Mrs. W. C. Cline, Miss Florence Hawthorne, Miss Winifred Bost, Miss Helen Bost, Miss Margaret Bost, Miss Freda Wedel, Miss Marion Cornelius, Miss Lauretta Shinkel, Miss Winifred West, Miss Geneva Moremen.

MISS MABEL LAWRENCE HONORED—

Miss Mabel Lawrence, whose marriage to George Mahan, well-known young Ontario banker, is to be an event of the coming month, furnished the inspiration for a dinner of charming appointments with which the Halfhill Girls' Club of Ontario, to which the bride-elect belongs, entertained last evening at Los Serranos Country Club.

Members of the party motored to the club late in the afternoon in time to enjoy an inspection of its beautiful grounds. Dinner was announced at 7 o'clock, and was served in courses. Miss Lawrence was presented with a charming gift in token of the regard in which she is held by her fellow-members.

Covers at the dinner table, which was attractively adorned with choice blossoms and fernery, were indicated for Miss Mabel Lawrence, Miss Lucy Millard, Miss Marie Millard, Miss Ruth Schumaker, Miss Ella Draper, Miss Anne Stoekel, Miss Myrtle Urey, Miss Pearl Ogden, Miss Marie Rowe, Miss Myrtle McNay, Miss Lucille Joss, Miss Olive Russell, Mrs. Clarice Bentley, Mrs. Clara Bernhard Dossinger, Mrs. Nellie Campbell Person, Mrs. Barbara Birmingham, Mrs. John Jenkins, and Mrs. William Clark Roloff.

RABBIT BREEDERS TO CELEBRATE

Members of the Rabbit Breeders Association of Southern California, of which W. A. Hannah of Ontario is president, are to celebrate their third anniversary of their organization this evening with a banquet at the Chaffey High school cafeteria. The banquet is scheduled for 7:30.

Charles S. Gibson, formerly of Elwood, Ind., but now of Los Angeles, is to be the principal speaker of the evening. Mr. Gibson is a rabbit breeder and judge of national reputation.

Other speakers will include Judge Louis Salisbury, widely-known rabbit authority of Pasadena, and M. R. Meek of Arcadia, who will tell of the establishment of a fur farm of which he is manager.

Mrs. F. L. Warburton is general chairman of the banquet committee and Mrs. Fred McMullen is chairman in charge of a musical program, which is being arranged. The banquet event is expected to be attended by several hundred rabbit men and women from all over Southern California. The Association numbers most of the leading breeders in this section, who weekly ship thousands of pounds of rabbit flesh to supply the Los Angeles markets. Needless to say, fried rabbit will be the principal item on the menu.

POOR DAY FOR DIVORCE COURT

The divorce court was dark yesterday. Not a solitary unhappy wife or husband appeared to tell of the troubles of married life, a record unequalled in many weeks of court history.

One case was set for trial, but illness among the witnesses in the case prevented its hearing heard. The usual Monday morning courtroom spectators who gather for firsthand information of marital squabbles left in disappointment.

Yesterday's record, however, does not indicate that there is less unhappiness within the county as there are a score of cases pending.

ROTARY HONORS WAR VETERANS

Honoring the veterans of Upland, Rotary today, under the direction of Harlow S. Wilson, devoted the entire program to veterans of the Civil War, veterans of the Spanish-American War, and veterans of the World War.

Alois Podrasnik represented the veterans of the Civil War, and gave a brief history of wars as well as speaking briefly of the ranks of the veterans, which are fast being depleted.

Col. Wallace Taylor represented the veterans of the Spanish-American War, and related some of his experiences during his service.

Frank Nichols, commander of No. 73, Upland Post American Legion, represented the World War veterans and stated that he believed the Civil War veterans, Spanish-American War veterans, the World War veterans and members of the Rotary Club were all working for a better and greater country in which to live.

Mrs. Allan Barr, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Lemon, sang, to the delight of all, her first selection being the Battle Hymn of the Republic, and to a hearty encore she sang "Annie Laurie." Members of the club considered it quite an honor for Chas. V. Barr to have as fine a daughter with so fine a voice, and he paid for the honor by increasing the amount of money in the treasury.

Gene Grier gave Lincoln's Gettysburg speech as well as a brief history of events which led up to Lincoln giving it.

"The Deathless Dead," by Edwin Markham, was recited by O. P. Brady.

Today's meeting was the largest in the history of the regular meetings of Rotary. Visiting Rotarians were present from Ontario and Corona, veterans were guests of members, and with several other guests swelled the attendance.

COUNTY WELFARE TO HOLD CLINIC

Orthopaedic work for crippled children is being shaped for the discontinuance of the monthly clinics during the summer months. The last clinic will be held in the offices of the County Welfare Department on June 7, it was announced by Mrs. Maude S. Bell.

Nearly thirty crippled children will be examined by Dr. Steele P. Stewart of the Children's Hospital on that date, it is expected.

Some of the cases will require care at the General Hospital for several weeks after the clinic, it is expected. All in the Children's Hospital at Los Angeles have finished treatment, only one child from this county being left in the institution to which the more critical cases are sent.

One little girl from the desert, who was taken to the hospital on New Year's Eve, was brought back last week. After living for three years bent on a pillow, the little girl can now sit up. The case has been an especially delicate one and it will be several weeks yet before the girl will be able to walk.

COCHRAN NICHOLS LEASE O. K. GARAGE

Six years ago Clifford L. Cochran and Bertrand C. Nichols started into the garage business under the firm name of Cochran & Nichols, taking over the Casa Blanca garage in West A Street. At this time Mr. Cochran, who began his career with the Buick Agency, had gained a wide reputation as a mechanic of exceptional ability, while Mr. Nichols, a trained executive, was well fitted to take charge of the business end of the new concern.

Build Up Large Business
In the face of keen competition they built up one of the largest garage businesses in the West End, and their repair department and modern shop equipment became known as one of the most complete in the community. They also built up a line of high class auto accessories wide in its scope that included many articles rarely handled outside the large cities. Later they took the agency of Nash automobiles with which they have made an enviable record.

Along Same Lines
Cochran & Nichols, who have heretofore operated the Casa Blanca garage, have taken over the O. K. garage at No. 114 East A Street, where they will continue operations along lines laid in the past. Ample space is provided for car storage. The repair department will be in direct charge of Mr. Cochran, who will have with him a staff of able mechanics. As before, Mr. Nichols will have charge of the office and accessory department. The large stock of auto equipment which will be moved from the Casa Blanca garage combined with the stock purchased with the O. K. garage, forms probably the most complete line in the community.

All day and all night service will be maintained, and a wrecking car will be at the service of those in need.

Favorable Location
In commenting on the new change of location, Mr. Nichols had this to say: "The extremely favorable location of the O. K. garage is the prime reason for this move. It is close to the center of business activities, where our service may be enlarged. The district is growing rapidly and we think we see the opportunity of a wider range of activity here. Our business will be conducted conservatively and exactly along lines of the past, the main idea being reliable service to the public. We hope to enlarge this service as time goes along. We shall maintain our sales agency of the Nash with our show rooms. We shall also devote our attention to the building up of our general repair and auto accessory departments." The work of moving is now in progress, Cochran & Nichols having taken possession, and within a few days it is expected to have things in shape for well-oiled service.

EDISON LINES ARE EXTENDED

Power Supplied To Four New Fontana Company Pumping Plants

Four major extensions of Southern California Edison Co. lines are being made in this district to supply power to new pumping plants of the Fontana Farms Company, it was announced yesterday by H. S. Williamson, district manager.

The extensions are being made at a cost in excess of $6,500 to the power company alone. The cost of the improvement to the Fontana Co. is considerably over $10,000. Three wells are being brought into production in the Lytle Creek basin in the territory north of Rialto and a fourth, which is a deep well, is located near the Santa Fe right of way at Fontana. Motors of 150 horsepower capacity are required for the three Lytle Creek plants and a 200 horsepower motor is to be used at the plant in Fontana.

In addition to the present extensions four more of the same character will be required to care for additional wells now being sunk by the Fontana company.

Edison extensions in San Bernardino are being made daily. These consist of short feeder lines from the larger distribution lines, which have been run into the newer residential districts during the past two years.

SELL POPPIES TO AID WAR ORPHANS

According to announcement today by Mrs. Everett H. Fuller, president of the local Woman's Auxiliary American Legion, the Auxiliary members will sell Poppies on the business streets of Upland on Wednesday and Thursday.

The proceeds derived from the sale of the poppies are to be used for the benefit of the orphans of the World War veterans. The trifling amount asked for a poppy is small, and it is hoped everyone will feel that they can buy one to wear for a few hours in memory of the brave fellows who died fighting for their country, and whose little ones now need our care and protection.

FUNERAL SERVICES GORDON MCKEAN

Funeral services were held at Long Beach this morning, followed by a short service at the grave in Bellevue Cemetery, Ontario, at one o'clock for Gordon McKean, who died at his home in Long Beach on Sunday morning.

Mr. McKean was a brother of Mrs. Bess Grisham of this city, and beside his mother, Mrs. Jackson Deets, formerly of Ontario but now of Long Beach, he leaves another sister, Mrs. Joseph Jost of Balboa, and a brother, Don, of Long Beach.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS NOTES

As a wind-up of the Play Day activities at the Upland Grammar School on Thursday, there will be a basketball game between the boys of the 7th and 8th grades.

There will be an exhibit of work done in the Manual Training Department on Thursday at the grammar school, which everyone is invited to inspect. The exhibit will be in the shop which will be open all day to visitors.

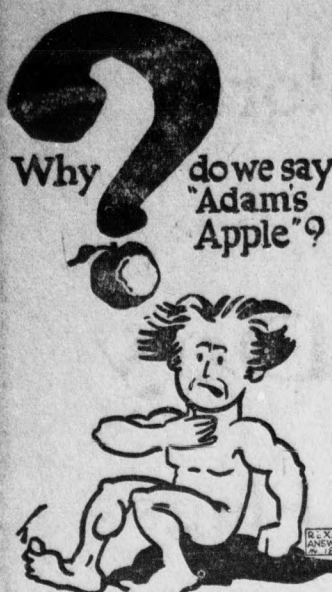

WILL SUBMIT SALARY ISSUE

Board of Supervisors yesterday formally decided to place on the August primary ballot the charter amendment of salary increases for county officers, as recommended by members of the former Board of Freeholders which framed the original charter. The amount of salaries proposed has not been agreed upon. Various recommendations on this subject have been received from individual members of the Board of Freeholders, A. E. Allen, assessor, and George H. Johnson, district attorney, met with the board yesterday to discuss the matter.

Supervisor C. E. Grier presided as chairman yesterday in the absence of Chairman A. G. Kendall.

FARM BUREAU PICNIC JUNE 14

Although only tentative arrangements were made at a meeting held recently, the annual Farm Bureau picnic will probably be held on June 14.

Four locations suggested by the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce and one by the Redlands booster body were considered. Those in the vicinity of San Bernardino are the Gate City Playground, Camp Cajon, Pickering Park and Meadowbrook Park. Redlands has offered Sylvan Park in that city. As the picnic was held in Redlands two years ago, it is expected that one of the San Bernardino locations will be chosen. If Pickering Park is the choice the outing will probably be arranged for June 13.

Subcommittees were selected. The one to decide the meeting place includes George T. Brooks, Harry Castle and R. B. Peters. H. J. Wilder is to make arrangements for a speaker. E. H. Rowe, of Grand Terrace, will be in charge of the sports program. F. M. Barney will direct transportation and automobile parking. Mrs. C. L. Jordan will be in charge of the picnic. Following the custom of previous picnics, each member will bring their basket lunches. Coffee will be served.

SHORT BUT LONG

Before exercising her Leap Year privilege, she determined to make one more effort.

"George," she said, "why don't you propose?"

"Somehow—somehow I can't bring myself to do it, Mabel," he blurted.

DECIDUOUS CROP AVERAGE ESTIMATE

With deciduous fruits large enough now for estimates of the season's crop to be made, Libby, McNeill & Libby cannery in Chino is preparing for a good season on apricots, peaches, pimientos and tomatoes. The crops in all will be average in volume, according to present estimate.

Apricots First

Work on apricot canning will open the cannery during the last week in June, since the fruit seems to be a little earlier than usual this year. According to the statement of A. S. Sanders of the cannery today, the apricot crop will be a little better this year than last. The total yield of fruit will not be as heavy, but the amount canned will be a little better. The fruit is somewhat spotted by the late rains.

Peaches Light

The apricots will be followed by peach canning. The prospect in that field is a trifle uncertain since the trees are showing a good set of peaches but almost no leaves. Various causes have been assigned for the lack and the situation is probably due to the fact that the long dry winter with its warm weather prevented the flow of sap into the top of the tree to sufficient extent to put on the leaves. The more recent dampness has somewhat remedied the condition, however, and prospects within the last two weeks have been better for a good yield of salable fruit from the groves.

Universal Shortage

The shortage of leaves has been general in the valley this year even where groves were irrigated during the winter. Some trees have been so dry that cutting back as though after a severe freeze seemed to be the only thing. The more recent condition will probably prevent such a loss, however. Even now the upper parts of many of the trees show the same condition. Apple trees in the valley have also shown light leafing out this spring. They were not in as bad condition nor did they recover as late as the peach trees.

The peach crop will probably be entirely handled by mid-fall as usual. Whether fruit will be shipped south from the Marysville region as has been done some years is not yet determined.

In the late summer while peaches are still under way, the season of tomato and pimiento canning will begin. The cannery has already contracted 325 acres of tomatoes in this district, furnishing seed for plants to those who have applied. Nearly all the plants are in now and will be in bearing in late summer. The district in which the vegetables are grown lies all about the city of Chino, the California Junior Republic having a considerable planting as well as growers to the north, east and south. The largest single planting is 20 acres.

Pimientos Heavy

The pimientos, which yield heavily to the acreage, are all in Garden Grove. About 60 acres have been contracted thus far and will be shipped to Chino for canning. The sweet peppers have much better keeping quality than other fruits and vegetables which will be handled and may be kept on hand for two weeks before canning if other fruit is rushed. The

ONTARIO

Operetta Delights

"One of the best school operettas ever presented in Ontario" was the general comment of the large crowd that attended the second performance of "Silvia," a two-act production at the Junior High School auditorium Friday night.

The operetta was ably directed by Mrs. Mabel Leeke of the Junior High School faculty, and participants in the production included students of the seventh and eighth grades of Junior High school.

Features of the play included a solo dance by Dorothy Thatcher; two dance numbers, one given by a group of four girls; and a vocal solo by Le Roy Minnich, playing the role of Prince Tobbytum.

The well chosen cast of characters was composed of the following: Sir Bertram De Lacy, the court poet, Sylvian Goldman; Prince Tobbytum, a man of consequence, Leroy Minnich; William, an honest farmer, Irvin Lockhart; Robin, a country lad, Randall Currie; Sylvia, betrothed to De Lacy, Eileen McLaughlin; Betty, betrothed to William, Dorothy Durfee; Arabella and Araminta, ladies in waiting at the court, Martha Frank and Velma Teeter; Polly, Mary Kathryn Drake; Molly, Winifred Roof; Dolly, Maurine Blacklock; and farmer lad, Warren Wheatley.

Musical numbers were given by the Junior High School Orchestra, the seventh grade chorus, and the boys' chorus, and the girls' chorus of the eighth grade.

A special matinee for school children was presented Friday afternoon.

Character Counts

Brains plus character are the principal items to consider in arriving at the true value of a man. That was the keynote of a splendid address Friday afternoon by Dr. Charles F. Seitter, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, before the members of the Kiwanis Club in weekly luncheon session at Hotel Casa Blanca. Dr. Seitter's subject was "What Are You Worth?"

From the point of view of the chemist, a man weighing 150 pounds was held to be worth slightly over $8. From an economical point of view he was held to be worth approximately $5000. But in arriving at the true value of a man, the speaker held that his brains, his character and his ability to serve were the things which really counted.

By way of illustrating his point, Dr. Seitter recited how Chino cannery has constructed during the winter season entire new machinery for handling pimientos and will be ready to take care of a large amount this season.

The former manager of the cannery, F. W. Fetterman, who is now at Grimsby, Calif., worked out several experiments with pimientos in looking for a simple canning method that could be used. The cannery handled only a small yield last season, but the machinery used will be made ready this year to care for the increased amount.

Handling No Grapefruit

While experiments were made last season in canning grapefruit, none of the citrus fruit was handled this year. The cannery is confining activities to vegetables and deciduous fruits.

At present the staff at the cannery is engaged in the repair work and re-finishing which is the rule each season.

a great artist from materials valued at approximately 60 cents was able to create a picture valued at more than $100,000. As a further example, the speaker told how cheap pig iron through the ingenuity of man is transformed into articles of many times its original value.

In his talk, Dr. Seitter emphasized the point that the educator, the brain trainer, the character builder is not sufficiently valued. He pointed out that the hod carrier receives greater compensation than the teacher or the preacher. This he held to be due in measure to the fact that the work of the hod carrier is concrete, visible, while the reverse is true of the teacher. He nevertheless held the teacher to be the one great builder of the community.

In this connection, the speaker called attention to the fact that the church plays a great part in education. Many of the greatest universities of the country were founded by the church, he said, and despite the fact that less than half the people of the United States are church members, statistics show that 90 per cent of the students attending state universities are church members.

In closing, Dr. Seitter once more emphasized his point that character and a man's ability to serve his community and humanity were the real things which must be reckoned in determining his worth.

The pleasure of the Kiwanis meeting was enhanced by musical selections by the "Skillman Instrumental Trio," Mrs. A. D. Skillman, pianist; Miss Aileen Skillman, violinist; and Miss Eleanor Skillman, cellist. The meeting was opened by the Kiwanis president, Dr. R. L. Alexander. W. D. Ball, Jr., was meeting chairman. Group singing was led by Eugene Moore with Everett Simpson at the piano.

Casa Blanca Sold

With the papers in the transaction now in escrow, a deal is expected to be closed this week in which John Montgomery of Los Angeles will purchase the Casa Blanca Hotel from W. W. Paden. While no consideration in the deal has been reported, it is understood to be in the neighborhood of $125,000.

Mr. Montgomery is said to be a hotel man of wide experience and it is reported that the hostelry will be conducted by his son and himself. Although he has been a resident of Southern California for the past two or three years, he came here from Columbus, O. He is said to be prominently interested in the Gateway tract at Yucaipa and in the Yucaipa Valley Water Company.

Mr. Paden, whose home is in Long Beach, bought the Casa Blanca about a year ago from Miss Juila Reidy. For the past several months it has been under the management of Paul E. Hanner, who came to this city from Tulare.

The Casa Blanca ranks among the better tourist hotels of Southern California and enjoys a generous patronage. It is said that Mr. Montgomery has plans for extensive improvements to the hotel building and grounds in the immediate future.

SPECIAL SHOW AT EXHIBIT

Small Homes Exhibition at City Terrace Wednesday

The California Small Homes Exposition now rapidly nearing completion in City Terrace will be open to a group of Los Angeles citizens next Wednesday at 3 p. m. Two hundred and fifty invitations to this preview have been issued, and an elaborate program has been perfected for the entertainment of the guests.

Interest has already been aroused in Los Angeles regarding the display of the eleven model homes comprising this exposition, it is stated, because of the fact that they are all below $3500 in price, and yet will be of most attractive types of architecture. The interior decoration in charge of Barker Bros. will be completed in time for the preview on Wednesday, but the formal opening to the general public will not take place until Sunday, June 1.

In connection with the displays of the exposition homes a comprehensive program of lectures and entertainments has been arranged by Miss Ber-enice Hull, formerly manager of the domestic science department of the Sunmaid Raisin Growers' Association. Miss Hull has had years of experience in conducting programs covering all phases of planning, equipping and managing the home. The programs to be conducted under her supervision will be of particular value to the thousands of housewives who will view these dwellings during the course of the show.

A model nursery has been fitted out in one of the houses which will be the center of a better babies' contest to be one of the features of the exposition program.

No admission fee will be charged to the exhibits as it is the purpose of the exposition authorities to encourage the prospective home builder or home furnisher to visit the houses repeatedly in order to carefully study methods used in obtaining attractive effects at low cost.

ANCE ON PACIFIC

The decision to present the comedy "The Tempest" as the annual Shakespearean play at Pomona College did not come without much discussion. This play was intended for use at a wedding celebration and with wood-nymphs, shades, caves, and the various paraphernalia of magic, the air of a masque is also essential. The Greek or open-air theater at Claremont lends itself most beautifully to this kind of production. This will be the first time on this coast that any organization has attempted the play to the labor and varied interests involved.

Caliban has become a by-word as a strange creature of poetical imagination. A mixture of gnome and savage, half demon, half brute, it is as if the use of reason and human speech had been communicated to an awkward ape.

Caliban is to be revived in the person of Warner Bentley and with him that strange blend of purely natural and purely ideal woman, Miranda. Miranda was the daughter of Prospero, the magician and rightful Duke of Milan. Having never beheld one of her own sex, she never caught from society one imitated or artificial grace. It will be interesting to see what Miss Carlisle Tupper (who plays the part) and her coaches consider an ideal woman to be. Prospero, that strange character with magical powers, superhuman wisdom, moral worth and kingly dignity, is to be depicted by James Thompson.

The music is to be especially adapted to the period of the play. The presentation of "The Tempest" by the co-operation of the English, Dramatic and Music Departments of Pomona College, to be given Saturday evening, May 24th, at the open-air theater, has given the people of Pomona valley an opportunity that comes but infrequently. Mail orders are now being filled at Bridges Hall, Pomona College.

AT TWILIGHT

In the quiet hour of twilight,
When the lazy smoke is curling,
And the setting sun in glory
Is a magic spell unfurling;
Then I love to sit and ponder,
Or in reverent mood to wander
As the little stars of yonder world
Are jeweling the blue.
Then a holy stillness soothing,
Petty cares away is smooching,
And the soul is strangely warming,
With the glow of hope anew.

In the mountain at the twilight,
When the humming-birds are droning,
And the breeze like sacred worship
Through the spruce is softly
moaning,
There the silvery water falling,
And the ouzels' love notes
calling,
Make the mood where man is humble,
And where God is worshipped best.
Sordid wars of greed and cunning,
Or the noise of traffic running
Cannot smite the soul communing
In this paradise of rest.

At the mystic hour of twilight,
When the mellow moon's first gleaming
Sends its wealth of silver light,
O'er the lake and forest streaming;
Then the men and maidens
strolling,
All the gods of love extolling,
Drink the golden cup of youth,
And fondly pledge undying love,
And these happy hours of meeting,
All the dreams of life competing,
Find the harmony celestial—
Lift the soul to heights above.

MANY CHANGES IN POMONA FACULTY

There will be a number of changes in, and additions to the faculty of Pomona College for the coming year.

Mr. Elliott C. Lincoln will come to Pomona as Associate Professor of English Literature. Mr. Lincoln is of old New England ancestry and a graduate of Colby College, Maine. He holds the degree of M.A. in English from the State College of Washington and has practically completed his work at Harvard for a Ph.D. Mr. Lincoln taught English for three years at the Washington State College. During the war he served in the cavalry and rose to a captaincy, and has since been called to summer military camps as an instructor. Mr. Lincoln has published a volume of poems called "Rhymes of a Homesteader," and another volume is about due from Houghton, Mifflin & Company.

Mr. Jose Pijoan comes to the Department of Romance Languages as Acting Professor of Hispanic Civilization and Lecturer on the History of Art. He is a native of Barcelona, Spain, and a graduate of the University of Rome, Italy, holding degrees from these two institutions which correspond to the M.A. granted by our universities. Mr. Pijoan began his teaching work as Assistant Professor of History in the University of Barcelona, and for several years he was secretary of the "Institution for Catalan Studies." In 1910 he was called to London to complete the catalog of Spanish Manuscripts in the British Museum. From there he went to Rome to establish a Spanish school, in which he was co-director from 1909-1912. Mr. Pijoan is a member of several foreign academies and is a Knight of the Crown of Italy. He is the author of several works upon Hispanic Art, Sculpture and Archeology. Perhaps his most important work is a "History of Art" in three volumes.

Mr. Paul Atwood Harvey comes to Pomona College as Assistant Professor of Botany. Mr. Harvey is a graduate of the Oregon Agricultural College with a degree of B.S. and a graduate student of the University of Minnesota with the degree of M.S. He has also taken special work in Harvard University in general physiological chemistry. In both the University of Minnesota and Harvard University he has held Teaching Fellowships. Mr. Harvey's time will be given to courses in physiology and pathology which will deal largely with the practical problems of the orchardist.

Mr. Francis G. Gilchrist comes from special work at the University of California to Pomona College as an Instructor in Zoology. He is an honor graduate of the University of California and a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi and Phi Sigma honor societies. Mr. Gilchrist was for two years a student at Occidental College, then spent a summer with the United States Geological Survey. He then enlisted and spent one year overseas in France and Germany. Since his graduation at Berkeley in 1921, he has been a graduate student at the University of California and for the past two years has had charge of the laboratories of the elementary courses in Zoology. He is now completing the residential requirements for his degree of Ph.D.

Wesley Leighton, a graduate of Pomona College, class of '23, will return to his Alma Mater as an Instructor in Chemistry. Mr. Leighton was offered the Teaching Fellowship at Harvard University now held by his brother, Philip Leighton, but decided to continue his work for the coming year with Pomona College.

Miss Frances Dillon becomes a member of the Physical Education Department for Women. Miss Dillon is a graduate of the Pasadena High School and of the College at Wooster, Ohio, from which she holds the degree of B.A. She is now completing two years of special work in the Department of Hygiene at Wellesley College, from which she receives a Certificate this year. Miss Dillon has had extended experience in camp work, having spent two summers in the Harkness Fresh-Air Camp at Cleveland, Ohio, and one summer as Head-Counselor in the Boston Y.W.C.A. on Martha's Vineyard. This summer she is to teach dancing and dramatics at Camp Pinecliff in Maine.

Mr. Robert L. Strehle, who graduates from Pomona this year, remains with the college as Instructor of Physical Education for Men and becomes track mentor. He will have complete charge of the track activities of the college under the supervision of Eugene W. Nixon, Head of the Department of Physical Education for Men.

In the Department of Music, Professor Everett S. Olive, who became a member of the faculty

STUDEBAKER MAIL
VETERAN OF WEST
PLACED IN MUSEUM

The Studebaker Light-Six, which holds Pacific Coast records in fast mail carrying service arrived at South Bend, Ind., and was placed in honorable retirement.

The veteran machine, still full of pep and power despite its gruelling service was moved into a prominent place in the Studebaker Museum—where many celebrated cars and vehicles with a romantic history are viewed each year by thousands of visitors.

This new addition to the museum of transportation in the Studebaker Administration Building, was sent by the Chester N. Weaver Co., Studebaker distributors at San Francisco.

Driven by Hart L. Weaver and James F. Gurley of the Chester N. Weaver Co., and accompanied by observers, this car made road records between Los Angeles and San Francisco more than three years ago that have stood unequalled by the officially observed performance of any other car.

On February 2, 1921, it established a new round-trip record between San Francisco and Los Angeles, a distance of 864.8 miles, in the sensational time of 21 hours and 23 minutes. On the same trip it lowered the coast route record between these two cities by 2 hours, 35 minutes and 20 seconds, the time being 10 hours, 12 minutes and 30 seconds for the 453.7 miles.

Three weeks later this remarkable car smashed the valley route record between the Main postoffice at Los Angeles and Ferry postoffice, San Francisco, running the distance of 411.1 miles in 9 hours, 15 minutes and 50 seconds. It is believed that this time between these two points over this route will stand forever.

A month after these phenomenal runs, this Light-Six covered the 425 miles of narrow desert trail from Los Angeles to Phoenix in 13 hours, 16 minutes, cutting off two hours and 28 minutes from the best previous automobile record. The railroad time is one hour, 4 minutes slower than the record established by this Light-Six.

at the time of Professor Andrews' illness, will continue during the coming year as Associate Professor of Piano. Professor Olive is a graduate of Simpson College, Iowa, from which he received the degree of B.M. Immediately upon his graduation he became a member of the faculty of the Simpson Conservatory, remaining for about five years. He has pursued special study abroad and has acted as accompanist for such leading artists as Werrenrath and Middleton. He is also a noted composer of music for college and fraternity songs.

Miss Mildred Lund becomes an Instructor in Voice and Public School Music. Miss Lund is a graduate of Northwestern University, from which she received the degrees of G.M. and B.M. She has taught for two years as Assistant Supervisor of Music in Evansville, Indiana, and for three years as Supervisor of Music in Highland Park, Illinois. Miss Lund is soloist and choir director at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Evanston, and the composer of a number of songs which are now being published.

Miss Pauline Alderman comes to Pomona College as Instructor in Piano and Harmony. She is a graduate of Reed College, Portland, Oregon, where she majored in English and Music. She has also had one year of graduate work at the Institute of Musical Art and four university summer sessions at the Universities of California and Washington. She has taught in the high school at McMinnville, Oregon; the Lincoln High School at Portland, for the past three years has been the Head of the Theory Department and Teacher of Piano at the Ellison-White Conservatory, Portland, Oregon. This conservatory is under the management of the Ellison-White Chautauqua System, operating chautauquas through all the western states, Alaska, Australia and New Zealand. The members of their musical companies are largely trained for their work at this conservatory. Miss Alderman lectured on Symphony Programs for the Portland Symphony Orchestra and wrote and directed the music for the Y. W. C. A. Pageant in Portland.

Predatory Animals
An Economic Problem

"The estimate that the average annual damage to livestock and game amounts to $50 for each coyote and bobcat and $1000 for each wolf and mountain lion, has received very general acceptance," said Dr. W. B. Bell, assistant biologist of the United States department of agriculture, before a meeting of the American Society of Mammalogists, at Boston, Mass. In spite of the overwhelming evidence of damage done to the farmer and stockman and to the public in general through such depredations there are still some who contend that the fight to control these predatory animals by trap, gun, and poison should be discontinued or at least abated. It would be a difficult matter, however, to convince stockmen and farmers that an attempt to restore the old balance of nature would be beneficial, as it is not a practical undertaking in agricultural and livestock raising districts.

Great Losses Caused

That many of these destructive predatory animals are partly beneficial is not denied by the department of agriculture. The records maintained by the Biological Survey show that bobcats, lynxes and coyotes destroy many undesirable rodents, but in settled countries these predatory animals, with wolves and mountain lions, have learned to take domestic stock to such an extent that the losses are not to be tolerated.

Government hunters and scientists have made investigations of the food habits of these principal predatory animals by examination of the content of their stomachs, and the results show a decided taste on their part for domestic stock and for valuable game and birds. "In the case of the bobcat," says Dr. Bell, "it may be noted that of 3990 items listed in a table showing a summary of the results of stomach examinations, 677 were meat of domesticated animals; 687 were of game animals, game birds, or other birds; 2049 were of rodents; and 577 of various miscellaneous and relatively unessential materials, the largest number being bait employed in taking the animals. Sheep and goats were the favorites among the domestic animals on the menu of the bobcat and poultry seemed to be second preference. Not a great deal of information was obtained on the Canada lynx, as only 80 examinations were made. In these cases evidence was found that 10 animals had been feeding on meat of domestic animals, mostly sheep, goats and poultry. A number had eaten game animals and birds, and several had killed rabbits.

Coyote Is Dred

"More evidence has been obtained on the coyote than on any of the others. Of 36,989 items found in stomachs, 12,478 were parts of domestic animals, with sheep and goats strongly in the lead, beef second, and horses third, followed by poultry and pork. The coyote also destroys large numbers of grouse, as indicated by 1268 items in the list. Evidence also was found that they have destroyed numbers of miscellaneous birds, deer, elk, and antelope. It must be said, however, that the coyote does destroy numbers of rodents, particularly rabbits, though the number of rodents found in the examinations was less than that of domesticated animals and poultry.

"The timber wolf depends almost entirely for his diet, according to the investigations, upon meat grown by the farmer and ranchman. Out of 549 instances cited, 457 showed that domestic animals, chiefly cattle, had been fed upon. In addition, it was found that the wolves destroyed deer, antelope, and elk. Very few rabbits or other rodents were found in their stomachs.

"A table compiled on the food preferences of the mountain lion, shows that it has a good appetite for beef and venison, the numbers running cattle first, deer second, and horses third, although these animals have long been thought to care more for horse meat than any other. It seems that they kill some pigs and will game but seldom pay attention to rodents.

BOOSTING PARCEL POST
RATES

A bill, known as the Paige bill, is pending in congress, one purpose of which is to increase parcel post rates.

It is not a moderate increase which the bill proposes, a jump of a cent or two on existing schedules, but a 200 per cent raise. Other increases are proposed in second and third-class postal rates. The bill is designed to get additional revenue to the extent of $110,000,000 annually.

A lot of help a reduction in income tax is going to be if postal rates are jumped in this wholesale and extravagant manner.

Have you ever bought new laid eggs by parcel post, and had them delivered at your door for a nominal carriage charge of 8 cents a dozen? You will go to the grocery for them if this bill passes, because your postal rate will leap from 8 cents to 24 cents. And the farmer will go out of the business of direct dealing with the consumer by mail, and back into the hands of the middleman.

This is just one example of the way the Paige bill will work.

You can think of a hundred others—all of them arguments against it. If you are in the manufacturing business, and use the mail to send out samples and goods to customers, consider the difference in your expense for postage with a 200 per cent increase.

They say there is some risk of the Paige bill passing at Washington. If there be any risk it is time for those interested—and they are legion—to get busy with their congressmen.

Increased revenue is doubtless needed for the postoffice department. Increases in salary are due the postal clerks. But this bill will gouge the public and defeat its own end. It will result in driving business to the express companies.

Congress voted an appropriation of $500,000 for a thorough investigation of postal costs as a basis on which to readjust rates if necessary. That investigation has been under way for some time. It is expected an exhaustive report will be ready for submission in July or August.

To legislate for an arbitrary upward revision of rates in anticipation of this report is an un-intelligent proceeding.

Postmaster New urges that congress wait until it has the results of the investigation before it. That is sound advice, but the difference of congress to department opinion makes it important that it should hear from the country. Judging from the manner in which it treats the recommendations of Secretary Mellon, Secretary Hughes, Secretary Hoover and others—not to mention the President—the fact that Postmaster New is against passing the Paige Bill may be sufficient to insure its passage, unless there is emphatic protest from the people who will be voting next November.

"What about your nephew, Joe, who used to drink so heavily?" asked Benaway, who had just returned to the old home town.

"Now, there's poor Joe!" replied old Silas. "Looked like he felt just nacherly compelled to try to drink all the licker there was. But when he couldn't get any that was fit to drink, he—"

"Great Scott! He didn't die, did he?"

"Worse than that! He took to writing poetry, and is at it yet."

predatory animals in livestock regions, the department of agriculture has recognized that modern economic conditions make it necessary that livestock be produced at the minimum cost and, therefore, that all losses be cut down as far as possible.

"Game birds and animals are now recognized as a real financial and food asset of the country, as well as having other values. It is known that one of the greatest checks upon the development of this wild life is the predatory animal. In many regions where campaigns have been conducted against bobcats, coyotes, wolves and mountain lions, game has increased noticeably.

"Because of the modern methods used in controlling destructive rodents, it is no longer necessary to preserve the predatory animals in order to keep down these other pests. Predatory animals do not prevent the occurrence of rodents in seriously destructive numbers, and the cost of poisoning and trapping these small animals is much less than the loss occasioned by the predatory animals. As a result of these campaigns against rodents and predatory animals enormous areas of land are today being more profitably utilized in the production of crops and livestock."
